

Ambassador Outreach Application

Jamie Lindholm, National Coordinator

We are looking for members of the Portrait Society of America to serve as volunteer representatives for their state. Ambassador positions are voluntary and we welcome members of any and all artistic skills. Intermediate knowledge of computer applications, including internet and email skills, is required; and a willingness to spend time pro-actively meeting and interacting with a variety of potential resources for Portrait Society members is necessary.

Given the voluntary status of these positions it will require someone who is highly motivated and has a deep belief in them mission of the Portrait Society. Upon being designated an Ambassador for a given state, the Ambassador will be provided with a list of current members residing in that state. This list will be used a core starting point in an effort to reach out to each state members, collect data, and obtain leads for additional information from members to use to build the resource book. A monthly list of new members will be provides to each ambassador for “welcome calls” and a continuation of building the resource book

If you think you may be interested, fill out the information below and return it to the Portrait Society. You will be contacted and additional information will be provided.
